

Government information in the Google Age 2 - Programme

2 November 2009 - British Library, St Pancras

9.30 Registration

9.45 Welcome by the chair, Peter Griffiths (President, CILIP)

10.00 Session 1: Setting the Scene

- Keynote speech: Innovation in information management within the digital age - Natalie Ceeney, The National Archives.

10.45 Refreshment break

11.05 Session 2: Web delivery

- Government Web Site Usability - (Alastair Allan, SCOOP Chair, University of Sheffield)
- Web Continuity: a project overview and update (Dr Amanda Spencer, Head of Web Continuity, The National Archives)
- Going Beyond Google: finding government information on the internet (Jane Secker, LSE)

12.40 Lunch

13.10 Session 3: Information reuse

- Re-use of Public Sector Information - Opportunity or Threat? (Jim Wretham, Head of Information Policy, Office of Public Sector Information, part of The National Archives.)
- The role of the Government Publisher and its remit (Alan Pawsey, Head of Publishing Services, Office of Public Sector Information, part of The National Archives.)

14.45 Refreshment break

15.00 Session 4: Wider world of information

- Archiving Scottish Government on the web (Paul Cunnea, Digital Collections Manager & Jan Usher, Head of Official Publications, National Library of Scotland)
- EU information policy in the Digital Age (Ian Thomson, Director, European Documentation Centre, Cardiff University)

16.10 Session 5: New Developments in Official Publishing

- Official Statistics on the Web (Paul Auckbarally, Director of the Web Development Programme & Callum Foster, Strategy & Business Change Manager, Office for National Statistics)
- Recent developments in electronic publishing for official publications (Rachel Craven, Legislation Contracts Manager, TSO)

16.50 Conference summary and any questions

17.00 - 17.45 Library tour (maximum 15 places)